

Do You Need Help Finding Course Materials While the Library is Closed?

If you need direct assistance, please Contact Us or your Subject Librarian

During the COVID-19 outbreak, publishers are working with eBook Platforms & library databases, (see below) to make many of their eBooks temporarily free for students & instructors.

eBook Platforms

RedShelf [create account] and VitalSource [create account] are temporarily allowing students and instructors to access up to seven eBooks at a time through May 25 using your UH email.

HathiTrust is expanding access temporarily to full-text for every print title it matches with our collection – about 48% of our print titles. Users must choose UH from the drop-down menu and log-in with their CougarNet credentials. Only 1 book per user for 1 hour at a time, and only 2 users may access a title at one time. Auto-renewal is allowed for copies in use. [User Instructions.]

UH eBook Collections

ProQuest's eBook Central ProQuest is offering unlimited access to more than 100,000 titles in psychology, business, and education. Visit eBook Central to find the eBook you need.

EBSCO's eBook Collection EBSCO is offering thousands of recently published academic and commercial eBooks, and a larger number of older works. Visit eBook Collection to find a title.

Streaming Media

UH Libraries provides a variety of streaming media, such as movies, documentaries, plays, music, audio recordings, lectures, seminars, and historical footage.

Academic Video Online

66,000 videos with the widest range of subject areas.

Music Online: Listening

Includes audio recordings, scores, music reference, and video.

American History in Video

1,400 titles, such as newsreels, government and commercial film, and documentaries.

Theatre in Video

250 performances of plays and more than 100 film documentaries.

UH Campus Store

The Campus Store is offering students access to eBooks from a variety of publishers for no additional cost via RedShelf, about 80% of titles are covered. For non-digital materials and other items, the Campus Store has extended a free shipping offer to the entire campus community to fulfill any academic or personal needs. For students' rental returns, the Campus Store offers free shipping return labels and is also extending the non-return period without penalty to assist with increased returns by mail.
